PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT!!

Severe Weather Siren is Out of Order

June 12, 2019

It has come to our attention that the antenna on the severe weather siren is down due to the storm last week. Ready Watt will be out either Friday or Monday to repair the siren. They will be running the siren after the repair to make sure it is working properly.

Your safety is important so in the meantime, there is no siren to alert the residents of Heidelberg of any severe weather heading our way. Please rely on other sources of information to keep you abreast of approaching bad weather. We also ask that you please let your neighbors know that the weather siren is down and share the above information with them.

Thank you for understanding and sharing this information with those around you.

Be Safe,

Heidelberg City Council
